I am currently the Assistant Facilities and Public Events Director and the General Manager at the Will Rogers Memorial Center for the City of Fort Worth. I have been involved in the event business, in one way or another, for the past 38 years.

I began in the event business working for a National Sports Governing body in 1985. I travelled all over the country working on national and international televised events. During that time, I also owned my own business, got married and had our first child. In 2001, I sold my business and took a job as an Event Coordinator for the City of Fort Worth at the Fort Worth Convention Center.

At the same time, all the traveling was becoming an issue. In 2005, I cut back on my travel schedule so I could spend more time at home with my family.

I moved up the in the ranks with the City of Fort Worth, and was promoted to Operations Manager at the Will Rogers Memorial Center in 2002. That was followed by a promotion to General Manager in 2010.

I have always been driven to help people. I feel like that is what helped me excel in both my personal life and in the event business.

I have been married for 30 years and have three children...all boys. I spent a great deal of time in my adult life coaching competitive athletes at the national and elite levels. In my spare time, I work with the fire department in my local community where I hold an Emergency Medical Responder certification through the State of Texas.

My wife is a school teacher and my two oldest sons are fire fighters in the Fort Worth area. I still have one son at home, and he spends his free time as a competitive swimmer.

My family and I live about 25 miles north of downtown Fort Worth. We all love what we do and the community we live in.
